

Internet Librarian International 08

16 & 17 OCTOBER 2008
Novotel London West, London

Join us to celebrate our 10th
birthday

“...provides visions of the future of library services
...can't wait to get back to put the ideas into action!

The coverage of different subjects is very good. Something for every part of the library.

I always hope to gain 3 very good ideas to take back and achieved that easily...

The networking aspects are invaluable and sharing experiences is particularly interesting”

Do you use the internet to find, use, manage and share information?

Then Internet Librarian International is for you: a leading global forum developed specifically to help you do your job better.

Now in its 10th year, Internet Librarian International is for you - the information professional - and continues to reflect your fast-changing needs by demonstrating how to evaluate and translate 2.0 technologies so they provide real value to you in your own information environment.

Internet Librarian International's expansive programme emphasises the practical rather than the theoretical, so you can take what you learn back to the office and put it straight to work:

- practical conference sessions
- how-to workshops
- case studies and tutorials
- keynotes
- networking and social events
- sponsor showcase exhibits

www.internet-librarian.com

E: info@internet-librarian.com

T: +44 (0) 1865 327813

An Information Today event